Abstract

Roseville Therapy and Centre was day spa for women that emphasizes elements towards Islam and the Villa. Therefore, to create a space that portrays that, "The Path to Breath Away" is the main concept to emphasize the feeling of staying at the home and taking a break from social activity to form of self-care with enjoying a relaxing moment with the surrounding in an Islamic atmosphere. The colors element are pastel pink and blue cool would create a cozy space that gives the user feel a sense of warmth that meets coolness and sweetness soothing. The Islamic modern style was applied by the repetition pattern of geometric shape elements and the element of arches. Thus, the space planning was derived from the exploration form of the geometric roses flower as the main subject matter that indicates segregation area of public and private. The method use in this study is on-site observation to study the space organization, function of the space and circulation of the person inside the area i.e. workers and customers. This study reveals that the main categories mentioned above will show in the interior style. As a result, this Islamic spa design should be a new guideline for entrepreneur venture who interested to promote the Islamic spas to the world.
